QUESTION 1

The BPM analyst, Process Owner and BPM program manager have created a list of user stories with point estimates. What do user story points measure?

- A. The value of the user story.
- B. The priority of the user story.
- C. The time in hours required to implement the user stories.
- D. An approximate, relative measurement of the development effort.

Correct Answer: D

QUESTION 2

After a successful Playback 0, stakeholders excitably request that Playback 1 should be a fully functional application with look and feel branding and several features used in other core company applications. How should the program manager respond?

- A. Change the theme of Playback 1 to work exclusively on user interfaces.
- B. Inform the stakeholders that their request will not be part of this application.
- C. Capture the feedback in planning for Playback 3 with user interface enhancements.
- D. Postpone Playback 1 by four weeks to accommodate branding and user interface features.

Correct Answer: C

QUESTION 3

What serves as a repository for all project assets created in WebSphere Lombardi Edition Authoring Environment?

- A. Process Portal
- B. Process Center
- C. Process Designer
- D. Process AdminConsole

Correct Answer: B

QUESTION 4

One week prior to the start of Iteration 5, which is planned for a two weeks duration, the BPM Program Manager has asked developers to review the proposed user stories assigned to the iteration, define implementation tasks and provide estimates in hours. During the commitment meeting prior to iteration start, one of the user stories has a single implementation task with an estimate of 80 hours. What should the BPM Program Manager recommend?

- A. Break down the user story into child stories because it is an epic.
- B. Break down the implementation work into tasks that can be described in 8 hours or less.
- C. Pad the task with 20% more hours because developers typically under-estimate their required effort.
- D. Cancel the user story and move it to a future iteration because 80 hours too large to fit into a two-week iteration with confidence.

Correct Answer: B

QUESTION 5

What are the primary challenges that business process governance addresses?

- A. Many processes, many BPM developers, and many BPM assets.
- B. Bad relationships between business and IT, inconsistent results in delivering BPM value, and developing BPM skills within the organization.
- C. Inconsistent decision making in selecting BPM projects, not meeting regulatory compliance goals, and automating labor intensive processes.
- D. Developing BPM skills within the organization, adopting BPM methodology to the organization's needs, and gathering lessons learned from failed BPM projects.

Correct Answer: A
