Extending HPC access

HP is making HPC resources available as part of a service hybrid cloud solution (with the Apollo 6000 system). Based on HP OpenStack, it provides an open and scalable HPC cluster infrastructure.

HP has also partnered with Intel, as well as institutions such as George Mason University and the National Center for Manufacturing Sciences, to make HPC resources available in HPC innovation hubs. These hubs give small- and medium-sized manufacturers access to supercomputing resources, hardware, software, and expertise, so they can do the modeling and simulation needed to bring new products to market faster.

Service providers

HPC customers use IT differently from corporate IT organizations. An HPC customer's expenditure on IT often approaches 90% of the total cost of the business—10 times that of a corporate IT organization. And the IT growth rates for a service provider can be many times the IT growth rate of a corporation. For service providers, IT is the business.

Within HPC, HP customers are continually looking for better performance to design better products, get to market faster, and achieve faster trading where microseconds translate to millions of dollars.
