QUESTION 1

In a requirements catalogue, a distinction is often made between business level and solution level requirements.

Why is this distinction made?

- A. To allow the high-level goals of the solution to be expressed as solution requirements.
- B. To highlight the technical constraints in which the solution requirements must operate.
- C. To reduce the number of functional requirements in the requirements catalogue.
- D. To separate strategic requirements from those that only provide value to the project.

Correct Answer: A

QUESTION 2

A business analyst is concerned that the project team may not have a consistent understanding of the requirements set, as project team members have been working on their own individual tasks. He wants to ensure that the whole team is on track and is willing to take the time needed to achieve this. He does not want to involve business stakeholders, nor embarrass any of the project team.

To begin the process of improving team understanding, he wants to hold a meeting to explain and present his understanding of the requirements to the team, and to hear their thoughts and ideas about his work so far.

Which of the following approaches to requirements validation will he be using?

- A. Formal review
- B. Peer review
- C. Structured walkthrough
- D. Technical review

Correct Answer: D

QUESTION 3

An international travel operator has a customer services department responsible for investigating complaints made by holidaymakers. The department has five members of staff based in its head office.

A business analyst is working on a project to replace the existing holiday management system and has compiled the following requirements from a range of elicitation activities:

1.

The solution should be fully accessible in the English, French and German languages.

2.

Users should be able to retrieve holiday details by booking reference number.

3.

Holiday providers shall be able to add the details, date and prices of their tours directly onto the system.

4.

The solution will be able to support up to 2000 concurrent active users.

5.

The solution will be restorable from back-up within 4 hours.

6.

The solution should be able to retrieve holiday details within 10 seconds.

Which of the following represents the correct categorization of the requirements?
